

Our Commitment to Communities

Pacific Hydro aims to establish and maintain respectful and collaborative relationships with the communities in which it operates or seeks to operate in. Recognising that community support is as critical to project success as technical and financial factors, Pacific Hydro endeavours to build, maintain and continually improve relationships and support for our projects.

We aim to develop mutual trust and respect within host communities through adopting appropriate levels of transparent, open and collaborative engagement and communication at all stages of our projects. We are committed to sharing the benefits of our projects with the communities that host them by delivering respectful, positive and lasting social, environmental and economic value and supporting community initiatives, building local capacity, and seeking mutually agreed solutions to local issues.

Our Purpose, Values and Culture Statements guide the interactions we have with all stakeholders, including local communities, and we recognise and respect people's rights, local laws, customs and cultures.

Pacific Hydro is committed to working with local communities in ways that are inclusive and collaborative to identify and mitigate potential impacts resulting from our activities, including social, cultural, health, safety or environmental, according to the needs of each community.

As a member of your community, Pacific Hydro will strive for best possible outcomes in response to enquiries, complaints and feedback from stakeholders.
